Will Meet In Salem In January

River-Lake Road Backers Organize

The Lake Erie to Ohio River Highway Association was organized Monday in an effort to promote the construction of the river-lake road.

A total of 23 representatives of the Chambers of Commerce in Salem, Warren, Youngstown, Conneaut, Ashtabula, Niles and East Liverpool formed the organization at a meeting in the Pick-Ohio Hotel in Youngstown.

The association will have a two-fold purpose: to kindle interest in and promote the construction of a good highway from Lake Erie to the Ohio River and to push development of eastern Ohio highways and other roads that would be complimentary to the highway program in this area.

Business Fine, Survey Reveals

But U. S. Picture Not As Good As Expected

NEW YORK (AP)—"Man, we're hurting," a Los Angeles merchant asserts. And he adds wistfully: "Santa Claus is going to disappoint a lot of Los Angeles kids."

A retailer in Milwaukee confidently proclaims: "It's going to be a good, old-fashioned Christmas, despite a slow start."

A Dallas store official says: "This Christmas season is going to be better than we had first thought. It's really encouraging."

These comments are indicative of the mixed feelings of department and specialty store executives who are battling furiously to equal the record sales figures of Christmas 1956.

An Associated Press survey of retail trends in 26 major cities gives this picture:

Christmas business isn't shaping up a well as many merchants had hoped. It may not reach the high-flying totals of 1956. But by any other standards it will be plenty big. Signs point to a last-minute buying binge. Rumors of a so-called buyers' strike are apparently without foundation.

Merchants are gloomiest where cutbacks in aircraft and other industries have added to unemployment. Many shoppers in these areas have been laid off. Many, employed now, wonder if they'll still have jobs next year. This makes them cautious—an attitude that's quickly reflected in retail sales receipts.

A Los Angeles retailer complains: "Things had better start proving soon or we're going to take one heck of a shellacking."

Elsewhere, smaller-than-expected Christmas sales are blamed on a combination of circumstances and events ranging from Sputnik to a later-than-usual Thanksgiving holiday and poor shopping weather.

Toy Shop Planned By Salvation Army

The Salvation Army plans a "toy shop" at the temple Monday and Tuesday for needy families who also will be given grocery orders and children's and adults' clothing, according to Capt. Helen Beckman, commanding officer of the local post.

The toy shop is one of the Christmas activities of the local post which will be assisted Thursday by representatives of the Council of Church Women who will help pack 500 "sunshine" baskets to be distributed Saturday.

The baskets will be taken by post officials to the various nursing homes and hospitals in the vicinity, as well as to the Columbiana County jail.

Over 150 families are expected at the annual Christmas party Monday night, beginning at 6 at the temple when toys will be distributed to the children.

The Army this year expects to assist over 50 families in their requests for groceries; the families are also invited to browse through the toy shop and choose a toy for each child.

Paul Mossman, executive director of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, was appointed temporary chairman of the group until officers are elected.

The members will elect officers and establish bylaws for the new organization in January when they come to Salem for their second meeting.

The invitation to meet in Salem was extended to the association by Castle Smith, executive secretary of the Salem Chamber of Commerce.

Three other Salem men who accompanied Smith to the Monday meeting are F. W. McKee, president of the Chamber of Commerce; A. B. Morris, chairman of the local highway committee of the local chamber; and George Rogers, business manager of the Salem News.

Guion Osborn, president of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, and Mossman delivered talks.

Osborn cited the need for all area residents to realize the common problem of the highway situation in this district. He said the goal of the organization to push for progress on the construction of the river-lake road could never be minimized.

Missman said that in New York various groups have organized to keep highway development alive and have met with great success.

Hope was expressed that other organizations will see the need for area highway development will join the association as soon as possible.

A committee composed of two members of each Chamber of Commerce represented at the meeting will begin drafting plans for the association's progress program prior to the Salem meeting.

Christmas mail is lighter this season although the clerks and carriers at the Salem Post Office are busy receiving and dispatching the flood of holiday letters and packages.

Letter cancellations at the Post Office Monday, which was expected to be the peak day, totaled only 71,340. Superintendent of Mails Ray Reasbeck said. This was far short of any previous record. The record mailing for one day was in 1955 when 94,620 cards were mailed on the Monday before Christmas, he said.

Total mailings last Christmas season up to Dec. 24 were 725,222. So far this year the local meter count has been 367,130.

Post Office officials again urged residents to get their greeting cards and packages mailed now to avoid any last minute jam-up at the post offices.

A decrease in the number of packages received also is noted by Mr. Reasbeck. Three parcel post trucks easily have kept up with full city and rural deliveries every day, he explained.

The Post Office is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will be open Sunday afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. Both city and rural deliveries will be made Sunday.

Boy Hurt As Bicycle Crashes Into Auto
A 14-year-old boy was hurt when his bicycle struck the front of a car at the intersection of S. Lincoln Ave. and Franklin St. at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

The boy, Vernon Metts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Metts of 871 Granite Ave., sustained a badly bruised right leg and was treated at the Central Clinic.

According to police, the car driven by Russell K. Waithman, 53, of 905 Morris St., was stopped at the intersection, and the boy unsuccessfully attempted to make a left turn, crashing into the auto.

Senators Call For Expansion Of Bomber Force

Declare Air Command Mustn't Be Neglected During Missile Race

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary James H. Douglas testified today the Air Force is working to develop a mile-a-second airplane as "a step towards a manned satellite."

The plane he described as a step toward a manned satellite is the X15, which he said should have an altitude of over 100 miles and a speed of something like 3,600 miles an hour—three times that of the fastest existing planes.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Saltonstall (R-Mass) called today for expansion of the strategic bomber force while long-range missiles are being speeded into production.

The two senators, top Republicans on the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said the Strategic Air Command must not be neglected in the rush to catch up with Russia in space weaponry.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), who heads the subcommittee looking into the missile program, said in a separate interview the group will take a searching look into SAC's status "in order to determine what steps must be taken to keep it as strong as possible in this critical period."

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he thinks a sizable part of a proposed two-billion-dollar increase in defense spending should be allocated to stepping up production of B52 heavy jet bombers and to building more dispersal bases for them.

"I think the testimony the subcommittee has heard has already had some effect in speeding up missile developments," Bridges said. "But some of the missiles are in the future and some of them may take a long time to develop."

Saltonstall, chairman of the Conference of All GOP Senators, took a similar position, saying: "We must continue to build up SAC. We must continue to keep it operating at top efficiency while we make every effort to stimulate missile production. We've got to be realistic about the situation we face."

Johnson said it is "very clear that it is going to take some time for us to catch up with the Soviet Union" in the missile field.

"Meanwhile," he said, "we will have to rely to a tremendous extent upon the Strategic Air Command for our security. SAC must be the instrument which acts as a protective shield behind which we develop the weapons of the future."

Two Men, 20, Killed In Canton Shooting

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Two 20-year-old men were killed early today in a shooting outside a south Market Ave. cafe, and police were seeking a third man reported to have been in an argument with one of the slain pair.

Richard Larkin was found dead in front of a furniture store a few doors from the cafe, and Jack Lee McCullough, alias Jack Stone, died in Mercy Hospital shortly after 4 a.m.

McCullough staggered into the police station, assisted by a man who disappeared before police could question him. After McCullough told of the shooting, Larkin's body was found. McCullough, who lived only about an hour after he reached the police station, refused to say who had shot him.

A pistol was found near the scene of the shooting. Police began rounding up persons for questioning.

Compromise Reported Gaining Allied Support

Nation Honors Billy Mitchell

Statue of U. S. Flier To Be Unveiled Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A statue of Billy Mitchell, stormy prophet of air warfare, is being unveiled today at what could hardly be a more appropriate time and place.

Thirty-two years ago an Army court-martial suspended Col. Mitchell from rank and command. He had argued — publicly and heatedly — the United States was mired in old-fashioned military methods while warfare was taking to the air.

Today—in a capital noisy with charges and countercharges that America is fumbling the transition to space weapons—a bigger-than-life-size bronze figure of Mitchell in World War I flying gear goes on display at the Aeronautics Hall of the Smithsonian Institution. The statue, by sculptor Bruce Moore, is the gift of George H. Stephenson of Philadelphia.

It is to be unveiled by Mitchell's son William, who has been pressing for reversal of his father's 1925 court-martial conviction on charges of making statements prejudicial to good order and discipline.

An Air Force review board held a hearing on the Mitchell case last May and reportedly recommended reversal of the conviction. Its recommendations still are awaiting action by Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas.

Mitchell, born in 1879, was on hand for the testing of the first flying machine delivered by Orville Wright to the Army in the early 1900s. He became a pilot at 36.

World War I gave scope to Mitchell's imagination and prophetic sense about air warfare. He became the first inter-Allied air commander.

NY Subway Service Returns to Normal

NEW YORK (AP)—Rush-hour service on the city's vast subway system was back to normal today after an eight-day motormen's strike.

The transit workers officially called off their walkout Monday night after receiving promises of State Legislature help on their demands. The morning rush of workbound thousands was the first full test of facilities.

The strike was estimated to have cost the Transit Authority, which operated the 228-mile system, more than two million dollars in lost fares.

More than 1,500 members of the independent Motormen's Benevolent Assn. voted to return to work after Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Gov. Averell Harriman and state legislative leaders promised "fair treatment."

State Sen. MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republican, had promised the strikers he would introduce next month in the State Legislature a bill stripping the Transit Authority of control over the boundaries of adjacent areas to equalize voting strength, the board explained.

The change would create two new voting areas in East Liverpool and one in each of these townships: Butler, Elkrun, Fairfield, Liverpool, Middleton, Perry, Salem and Unity.

No changes are proposed in Salem City precincts.

President Visits NATO Command

Conference Opens Without Eisenhower

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower, although reportedly feeling fine, today passed up the start of an afternoon NATO session while the alliance foreign ministers continued their work.

Shortly before the scheduled start of the session Secretary of State Dulles told newsmen outside the American Embassy residence that Eisenhower might go to the meeting later in the day if any matters of substance arose.

Dulles said it was his understanding that British Prime Minister Macmillan also had decided to pass up the afternoon meeting for at least the time being.

Macmillan, however, showed up for the session at the Palais de Chaillot.

Eisenhower earlier in the day paid a sentimental 40 minute visit to his old NATO command and remarked "I haven't felt better in a long time."

At that time he appeared fully recovered from the fatigue that caused him to skip a formal NATO dinner Monday night.

The fourth session of the NATO summit meeting, the third on the chief of government level, opened this afternoon without Eisenhower.

The first word that Eisenhower had decided to skip the opening of the afternoon session came from White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

East Liverpool Man Is Injured In Crash

A 21-year-old East Liverpool man sustained severe head abrasions when the car in which he was riding went out of control and rolled over on Rt. 30, two miles northeast of East Liverpool at 7:40 p.m. Monday.

The victim, Jack Coconis, a passenger in the car driven by Charles Clutter, 28, of East Liverpool, was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital. The car was demolished.

Clutter was cited for reckless operation, highway patrolmen said.

NATO Leaders Meet to Discuss Bulganin Moves

Officials Say Nations Favor Neither U. S. Or Soviet Proposals

PARIS (AP)—The United States began sounding out its European allies today on how urgently they want negotiations with Russia and how rapidly they will act on President Eisenhower's nuclear missile offer.

Well informed diplomats at the NATO summit conference reported increasing support for a compromise between the largely military U.S. plan to meet the new power of Russia in nuclear missiles, and the desires of many Europeans for a more receptive attitude toward Soviet Premier Bulganin's latest proposals for more negotiations.

The compromise would let military planning and survey work go forward at once on setting up missile bases in Europe. It would also assure full exploration in the next few months of the new Soviet talk about East-West settlements to determine whether this is pure propaganda or seriously intended.

Secretary of State Dulles met with foreign ministers of the other 14 allied governments for almost three hours this morning to discuss Bulganin's new diplomatic offensive and assess allied reaction to it.

Bulganin, in letters to Western leaders this month, talked about new East-West peace efforts, disarmament and an end to nuclear tests.

Eisenhower obviously intended to be present in spite of his cancellation of a state dinner Monday night because he was tired after Monday's 4-hour and 35-minute session. Eisenhower, who suffered a mild stroke Nov. 25, kept diplomatic appointments and paid a visit to his old NATO command headquarters nearby.

Problems tossed to the foreign ministers for discussion also included disarmament, German reunification, the Middle East, relations between NATO and other international organizations, Africa, economic aid and closer political consultation among the allies.

The sharp difference of approach between the United States and the European allies toward Europe's missile age security seems to have taken the United States somewhat by surprise.

25 New Social Security Offices to Be Opened

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Social Security Administration announced today that it will open 25 new district offices during the first three months of 1958.

Commissioner Charles I. Schottland said many of the new offices will be in agricultural areas to provide service to the farming population only recently covered by the Social Security law. Others are to be located in industrial areas that have experienced heavy increases in population.

The 558 district offices now in operation answer questions on social security matters, assist eligible persons in filing claims for benefits and issue social security numbers.

New offices are to be opened in Defiance, Findlay, Marietta, Newark and New Philadelphia, Ohio.

Former Representative To Seek House Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A former state representative, Jacob F. Myers, 83, took out petitions Monday to seek the 12th District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. It will be vacated next year by John M. Vorys.

Myers, a Democrat, lost to Vorys in 1954 by more than 35,000 votes. He also ran unsuccessfully for the Ohio House and secretary of state.

Blow on Head Fatal To Cleveland Man

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ray Smith, 54, a relief client, died Monday night in Mount Sinai Hospital, apparently as a result of a blow on his head several days ago.

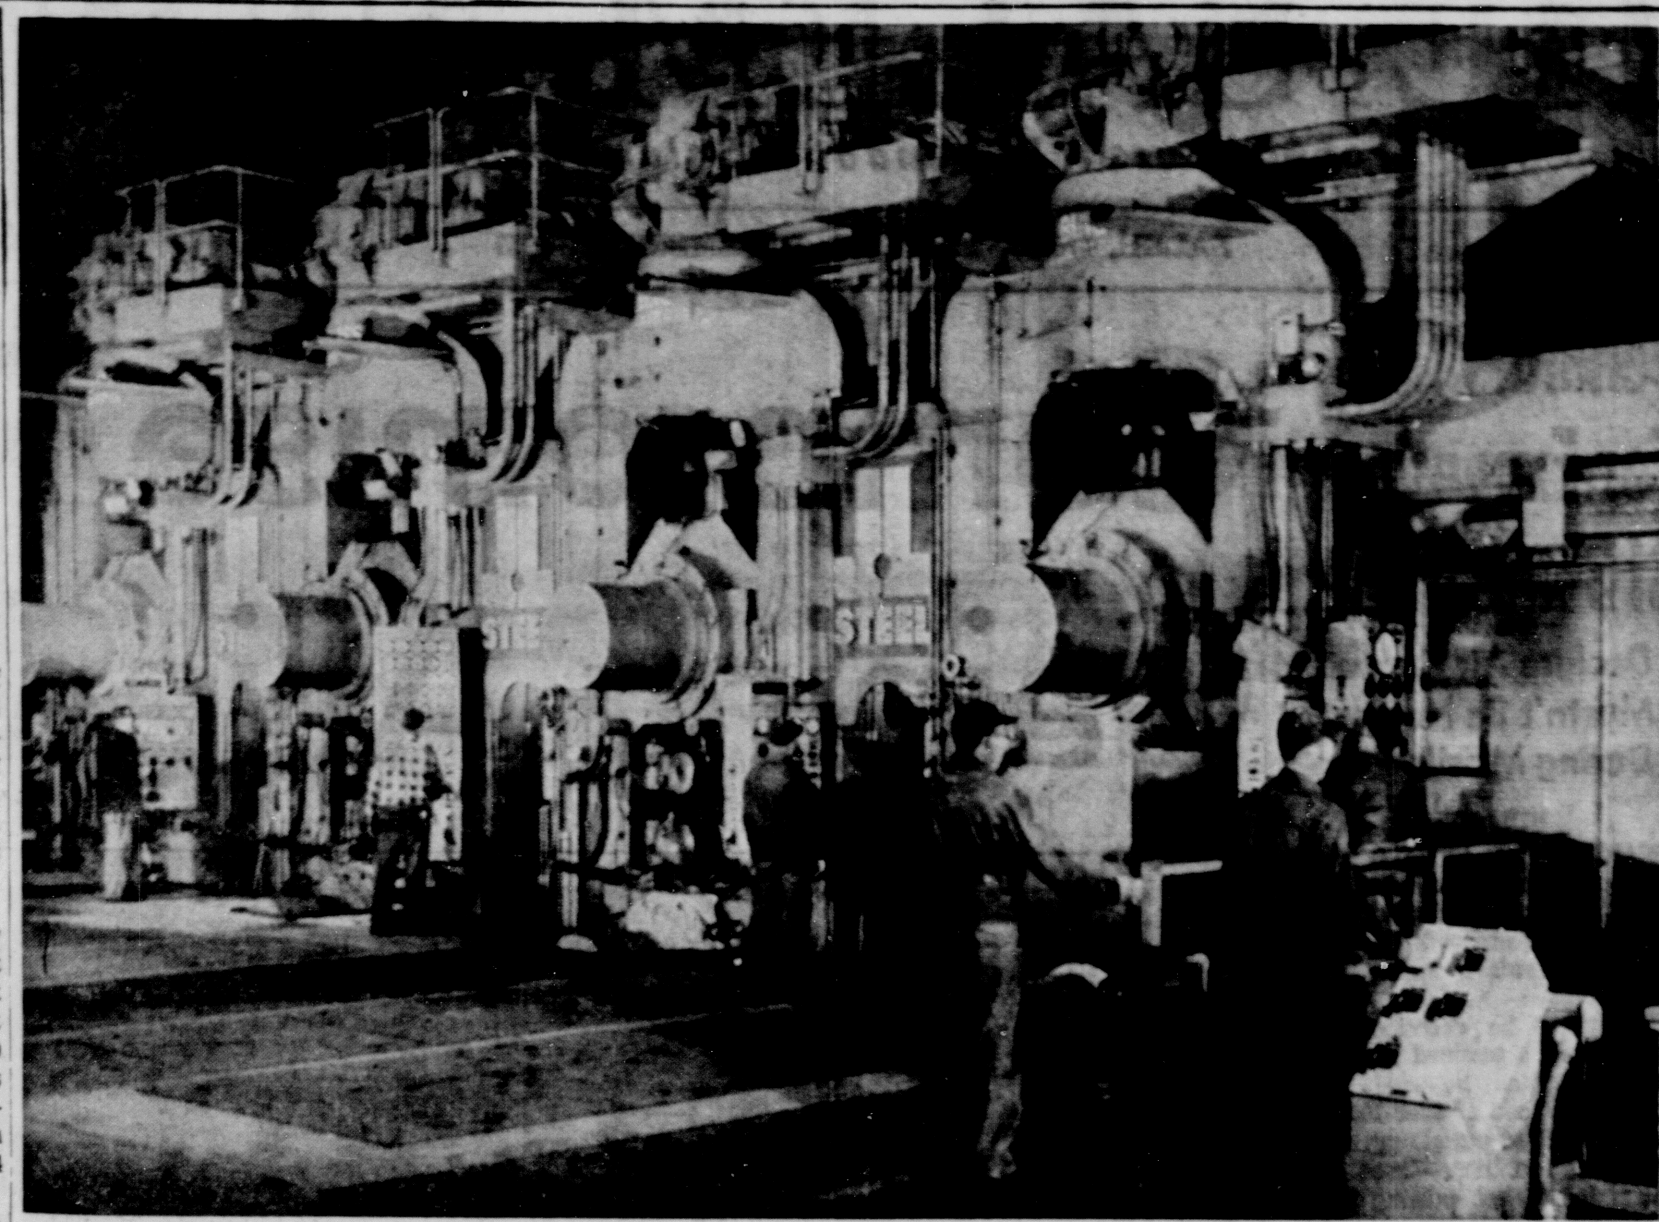

He was found unconscious in his bed Monday by a county welfare worker. Police were told by the custodian at Smith's apartment that Smith said he had been knocked down and robbed of $8 one night.

A Woman's Advice

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Evelyn Sharp, a cheerful widow with a merry laugh, yearns to write a perfect sonnet—but she'd rather create a perfect hotel.

"I'm afraid one is about as difficult as the other," said Mrs. Sharp, the only woman in the United States who owns and operates a hotel chain.

She writes poetry and paints to relieve the tension of running her $8,000,000-a-year enterprise. She learned the business from her late husband, Jesse Sharp, a financier who died in 1941.

Over the years Mrs. Sharp has had a financial interest in some 22 hotels. But she has cut her string to four in order to concentrate on her goal—the building of a group of ultra luxurious hotels catering only to the carriage trade.

"That's what really interests me," she said. "There is a real need for luxury hotels in America. What's the use of having a booming economy if you can't live well and travel well?"

Her hotels now are the Stanhope and Gotham here, the Saranac (N.Y.) Inn, and the Beverly-Wilshire in California. She values them at $23,000,000.

An attractive woman with blue eyes and reddish brown hair, Mrs. Sharp can call most of her 1,000 employees by their first name, is minutely familiar with every detail of her hotels. She did the interior decorating herself.

She has added such little personal touches as having free perfume in the room for an arriving lady guest, a copy of Fortune magazine for a male guest.

As we sat chatting in the dining room of the Stanhope, Mrs. Sharp noticed an elderly lady sitting alone at a nearby table. Nodding at the lady, she said to one of her staff:

"Gus, she looks sad today. Send some fresh cut flowers to her room so they'll be there when she returns. Make them pink and white. I think she'd like those colors best."

Here are her tips for a woman who wants to succeed in the business world:

"Don't take every small misfortune to heart, or brood if something goes wrong now and then.

"Lead a good life—so you've got the strength to do your work. If you're tired, you're whipped.

"Say what you think to people without mincing words. Be clear. Then you can get things done without rehearsing them over and over.

"If you have a decision to make, think it through clearly, then act promptly. Don't be afraid to burn your bridges behind you."

She practices what she preaches. She paid $7,000,000 for the Beverly-Wilshire hotel after seeing it only once.

BURNS PROVE FATAL

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Richard at last gets to Santa Land where the elf, Patrick Tweedleknives, scorns him for being stupid and afraid. Santa says he cannot give him courage or wisdom and Richard feels that all is lost.

(Chapter 12) THE GREEN GHOUL

Santa told Richard he could not give him courage or wisdom. "But you can do anything!" protested Richard. "Once I wanted a blue kitten more than anything in the world. There wasn't one to be found in the whole kingdom but on Christmas Eve you left one in my stocking."

"Yes," said Santa. "I can give you bicycles and books and skates, pets and games and any sort of toy. But courage and wisdom I cannot give."

"Please, please!" begged Richard. "Help me or my father is lost!"

SANTA PUT HIS HAND over his eyes and thought for a long while. At last he said, "Perhaps it can be done if you will bring me two things I ask of you."

"Name them!" cried Richard. "First," said Santa, "bring me a spool of golden thread."

"I will," declared Richard. "Where do I find it?"

"In the sewing box of the Green Ghoul,"

"Hah!" scoffed Tweedleknives from the corner. "He'd never dare!"

"Will you get it?" asked Santa looking at Richard.

"Who is the Green Ghoul?"

"A creature with a hundred arms," cried Tweedleknives. "A creature who collects boys ears to decorate her gowns. She lives in a tree house on the edge of Santa Land. When she is angry she lets out her breath and a hurricane blows across the whole earth."

RICHARD SHUDDERED and turned white. "I am afraid," he moaned.

"I told you he wouldn't go!" cried Tweedleknives.

Richard dragged his feet to the door. "I am going," he whispered. "W-will you be kind enough to point the way?"

Santa took Richard to the door and pointed across the land. "Just keep going until you come to the Giant Tree."

Richard sighed and trudged away in a straight line the way Santa had pointed. He thought he must have walked a hundred miles before finally he came upon an enormous tree standing all alone in a field of snow.

The giant branches of the tree waved back and forth against the sky. In the midst of the branches was a tiny house.

"WOOO," went the wind around the tree and the branches bent and swayed and swooped towards the boy as he stood trembling beneath them.

Shaking with fright he climbed up to the little house and knocked at the door. Instantly it opened and before Richard's horrified eyes stood a green faced creature three feet tall. While he held open the door with two hands she sewed on a skirt with two others. Another arm was raised above Richard and still another slowly crept around his feet.

"Ah," said the Green Ghoul gazing at Richard's ears. "I've been needing more ears to decorate my skirt!" Three hands began to twist at Richard's ears.

With a gasp of terror he pulled away and started to climb into the branches of the tree. Then he discovered they were not branches but arms — a hundred more arms of the Green Ghoul!

THEY SWEEPED AROUND him and gathered him up and carried him back into the tree house.

Richard was about to shut his eyes and give up when he saw something shining in the pocket of the Ghoul's apron. It was the spool of golden thread.

"I will get it! I will!" thought Richard. With a mighty effort he twisted from the arms of the Ghoul and reached into her pocket and pulled out the thread.

Instantly the Ghoul wrapped all her hundred arms around him and crushed him to her.

Migraine Headaches -- Menopause

A request has come in for a discussion of migraine headaches which follow the menopause.

This raises several questions, because the type of headache known as migraine is not particularly associated with the change of life. Furthermore headaches occurring at other times of life are by no means always migraine in type. Thus an attempt always should be made to find out what type of headache is present.

Typical migraine headaches are one-sided, come on at irregular intervals and are often associated with temporary disturbances of vision, vomiting and severe disability at the time. Many people who suffer from migraine headaches can tell in advance when an attack is about to arise.

Such peculiar sensations as depression or excessive hunger are common.

Occasionally the early signs are remarkable, especially when they are connected with eyesight. Patients have reported seeing visions of animals, such as mice, dogs or other living creatures. More frequently the eyesight is somewhat blurred or balls of light seem to be present before the eyes.

The headache itself comes on a short time after these premonitory symptoms. It starts as a rule gradually and becomes worse and more widespread.

In other words, it generally begins in a localized spot over the temple, forehead or in the eyeball, and gradually spreads until it covers the entire side of the head. During this time the face may be pale and there may even be a difference in color between the two sides.

Victims of severe migraine dread the attacks with good reason. There are few conditions which are more prostrating. During an acute attack the patient may be scarcely able to raise the head from the pillow. The least noise or light may seem intolerable.

A great many treatments have been suggested for migraine. Some of them have been tried and have proved successful for some people but not for others.

A special diet (ketogenic diet which is rather complicated seems to be useful for some. A drug called ergotamine tartrate has been used successfully to ward off some attacks. This drug, however, has to be used with caution and cannot be repeated too often.

Attempts have been made to control the headaches by inhalation of oxygen. Some vitamins and hormones have been tried, all with varying degrees of success.

Histamine (which is a substance important in allergy) has been tried and seems to alleviate the symptoms to some extent, but not all patients who have migraine respond favorably. Indeed there is one type of headache some times labeled "histamine cephalgia" because of its close relation to this substance.

Unions Have a Selling Job to Do

The deepest impression made by the AFL-CIO convention in Atlantic City continues to be the peremptory manner in which the boom was lowered on a proposal to hold the wage line in 1958.

The strong rebuttal to this "unorthodox" point of view by other union leaders who asserted that wage rates should be forced still higher to bolster purchasing power at a time when unemployment was rising confronted the country with a dilemma.

How can wage rates be made to rise when consumers' ability to pay higher costs of production is declining? Granted that it would be ideal to bolster purchasing power among consumers as a whole, where would the bolstering funds come from?

Unionists have expert economic counsel these days. But unless the country has the advantage of knowing whatever faces the unions' advisers are using, a demand for rising wage rates while all the factors that can justify rising rates are in a contrary trend, there can be no public support for the unions' policy.

If all farmers, all persons in service trades, all professional workers and all employees were to adopt the same policy — that prices should go up — the unions assuredly would be leading an angry protest.

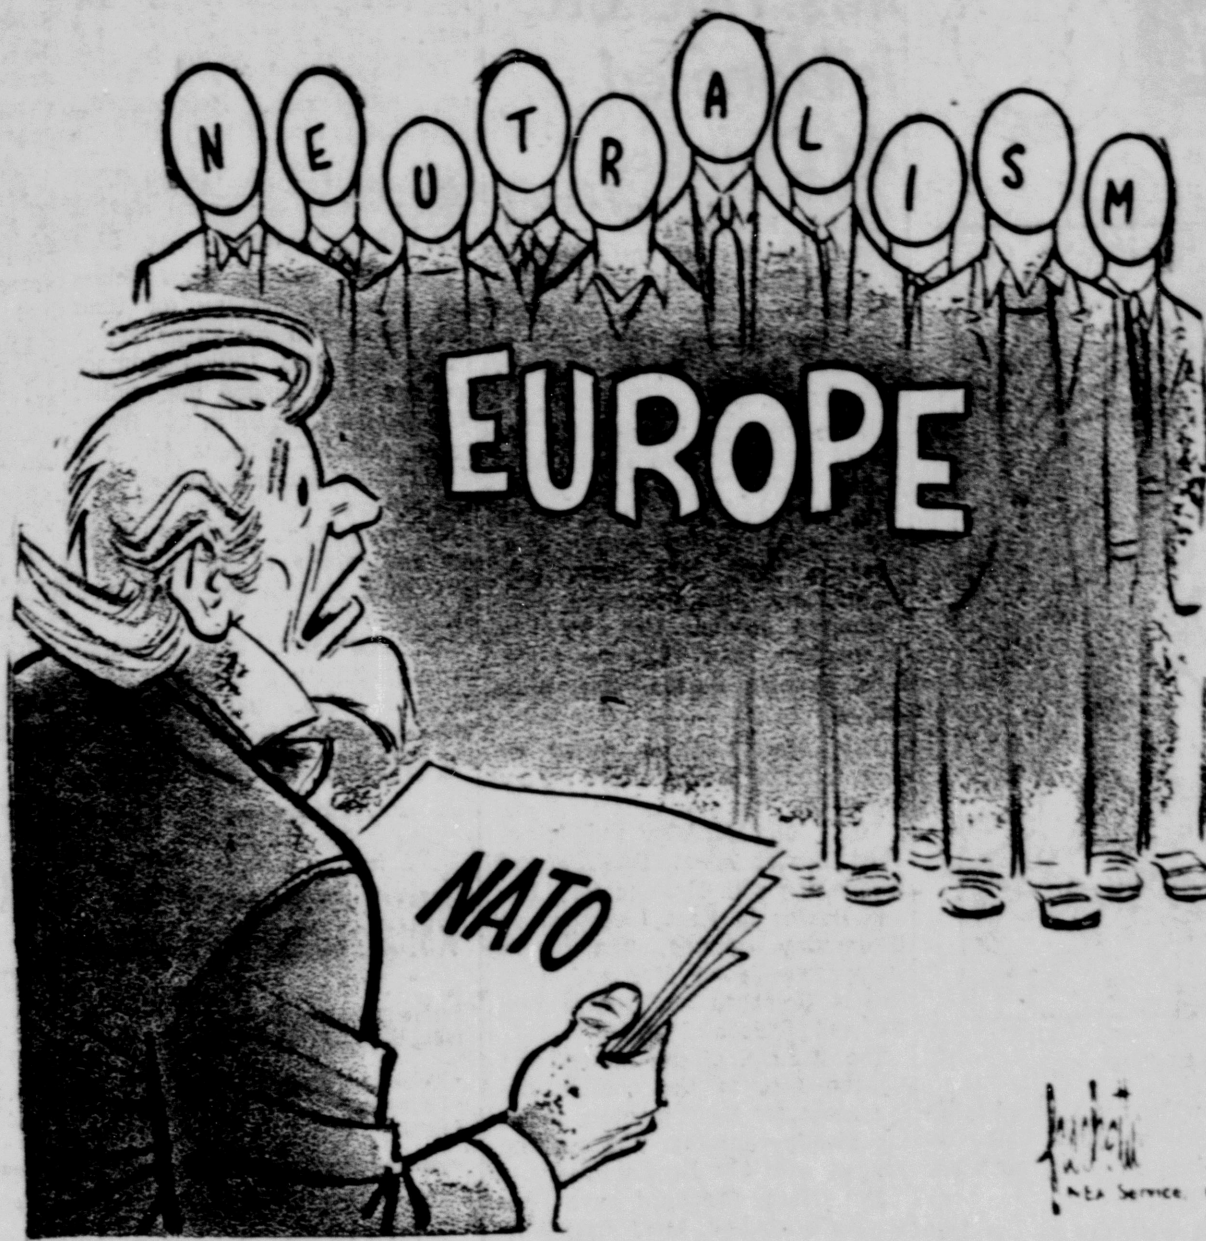

Whether the readjustment was "planned this way," which is still a strong contention in some quarters, or whether it just turned out this way, we are having a reshuffle. It has exceeded the proportions of the 1953-1954 readjustment and is approaching the proportions of the 1949 readjustment.

During that one, it will be recalled, wage-raising was set aside in favor of the formulation of new pension plans, whose costs could be met out of future earnings. Within the unions, themselves, that year there was disagreement about the wisdom of pressing for wage increases that could not be justified by general economic conditions. Some unions dropped demands they had made previously. Some unions criticized other unions for doing this. But over all, wage raising was stalled. Wages did not get another green light until the Korean War began in June 1950.

Union spokesmen cannot be criticized, of course, for their tactics in preparation for collective bargaining. They traditionally ask for more than they expect to get, so they will be able to settle for what they think is obtainable.

That is what is happening now. Union spokesmen are anticipating their 1958 bargaining problems.

'What Happened to Those Old Determined Expressions?'

History's Greatest Age Now Starting

Of all the scientific contributions to mankind since the beginning of time, what could have a more tremendous impact than an unlimited supply of energy for eternity?

All past scientific advances would pale into insignificance by comparison. Yet while we have been sputtering about Sputniks and venting venom on the administration for the failure of Operation Vanguard and other "trivialities," British scientists have succeeded in harnessing the H-bomb's power for peaceful uses.

Unlike the propaganda that attended the successful launching of the Russian satellites or the fanfare that made Cape Canaveral the scene of history's most publicized failure, the British achievement, to date, has been civilization's best concealed triumph.

Several weeks ago, the British Atomic Energy Commission reported that progress had been made in harnessing the power of the H-bomb but refused to give further details. During his recent visit to America, Prime Minister Macmillan dropped some further hints about British scientific progress and in London this week confided that British scientists working on the civilian use of hydrogen explosions may be heading for "a completely new source of power unknown before." He added that its raw material "could be got out of the sea itself."

The implications of the British discovery cannot be known until further details are available. The full impact will not be realized in this generation but it is possible to imagine some of the industrial and peaceful meanings.

It would, for example, supply all the world's requirements for energy for all foreseeable time since more than two-thirds of the earth's surface is covered by seas and avoid the need to use scarce and costly uranium as a raw material.

The fusion process which required tremendous heat, such as the temperature of the interior of the sun, has been the big obstacle in all prior attempts to harness the power of heavy hydrogen. Another prime objective of researchers has been to keep the fusing atom from touching the surface of a container, which would vaporize instantly. A huge doughnut-shaped receptacle is believed to be the answer to this problem.

Why is it that Britain has not proclaimed this miracle of science? Is it because it is bound by an agreement with the United States which forbids either nation to declassify secret information about nuclear development, without the agreement of the other party? Some Englishmen have said this is so.

Obviously nothing should be revealed, at this time, about how this fantastic discovery was achieved. It would be foolhardy for the United States or Britain to release the smallest particle of information which would help the Soviets in the struggle for scientific supremacy.

But since when has it been a breach of security to announce the achievement of the greatest scientific discovery of all time?

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Stalin could grin in his tomb, he's grinning now. He was one of the greatest gamblers in history and he won. Look at NATO, the atomic bomb, sputniks, missiles. His tactics forced the North Atlantic Treaty Organization into existence. But it was his determination which laid the foundations for NATO's present confusion and uncertainty.

Russia's Ghost

By JAMES MARLOW

At this moment it has been downgraded, a form of disgrace, because he typified the ruthlessness of the Communist state and his heirs would like to obscure that part of their history.

But when Stalin became boss after Lenin's death in the mid-1920s, he inherited an impoverished, almost medieval country of about 125 million people. Today 900 million live under communism in Russia and other countries.

He forced his people for two generations into a meager existence so the resources of Russia could be concentrated on bringing her abreast of the United States.

It was under Stalin that Russia laid the basis for its amazing military, technical, scientific, engineering and educational progress.

After the war when this country had the atomic bomb—and the capability of smashing the Soviets—Stalin spurned all talk of disarmament and its possibility of safety, and pushed the creation of Russia's own atomic weapons.

He was taking a gamble—a terrible one—for if war did start, Russia and Stalin and communism could have been destroyed together. By 1949 Russia had its own atomic bomb, by 1953 the hydrogen bomb.

That put Russia close to military equality with the United States which in quantity of bombs was still ahead.

The startling progress which Russia this year revealed with its satellites, missiles and jet planes had its origin under Stalin and, in some ways, put Russia ahead of the United States. Those things are not the product of the four years since his death.

By blocking Berlin and grabbing off Czechoslovakia, Stalin forced the Western nations into the NATO alliance in 1949. And when he let the Korean War start in 1950, NATO really began its military buildup.

NATO was the biggest menace Russia had to worry about since World War II.

But now the military might of Russia—with its beginnings under Stalin — has the NATO partners floundering, as shown by their preparations for the Paris meeting which opened today.

It's been customary, since Russia's new boss Nikita Khrushchev downgraded him two years ago, to push Stalin into the background. He won't stay pushed. He's like a bloody ghost haunting mankind.

Perhaps this is not what the agonizers are thinking of when they mean about reappraisal. But you can bet Donner and Blitzen against Sputnik I and Sputnik II that this is what some of them are brooding about while they grit their teeth and furrow their brows.

They would dearly love to rearrange things so when they say, "Scat!" 170 million of us will scat—and no back talk. Nuts to them and a Merry Christmas.

Honest Appraisal

By TRUMAN TWILL

In the upcoming new year, chances are, a lot of people who are hell-bent on agonizing reappraisal of just about everything that has been going on in this country are going to have a big inning.

Surely they would not begrudge one peep of doubt at this time from a peeper who thinks things have been pretty good here, on the whole.

Or if they would prefer to call it a peep of dissent from what they are about to yell from the rooftops, they can call it that. It is, after all, Christmas, when almost anything that springs from an honest impulse can be tolerated.

The impulse to go across the grain of the agonizing reappraisers is, in fact, an outgrowth of what happens in this country at Christmas. There is more fun to the square inch, more heartfelt compassion, more good-natured nonsense and more joie de vivre than at any other time of the year.

If some of us think this reflects more credit on what has been accomplished in our kind of a civilization than any of the things pointed to with pride in the kind we are about to be told we must imitate and outdo, it is because we are positive there isn't a member of the other kind who does not envy us.

We, on the other hand, do not envy them. We sometimes are impressed. Often we are poy-eyed with amazement, or frozen with horror. But there is no envy. Nothing we ever have seen or

Abuse of Power

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Labor's Proposed Demands Not Cure for Recession

More pay for less work! Fewer days in the work week at even higher pay than before! More and more overtime pay for all the other days of the week! This is what the AFL-CIO convention has just proposed as a cure for the current recession.

It looks instead like the road of bankruptcy for many small businesses and a big increase in unemployment throughout America if any such program is adopted.

For the doctrine which, in every unemployment crisis, would supply "more purchasing power" sounds plausible, but it is illusory. The theory was applied in the 1930's, and it failed to bring recovery. The reason is that merely increasing the purchasing power of more and more consumers does not help the heavy-goods industries of the country. It doesn't bolster the whole economy.

THIS WAS discovered between 1933 and 1939 when despite the leaf-raking and "made work" programs of the New Deal "to increase purchasing power," the unemployment figure after seven years was close to 10 million.

It was only when World War II began and the heavy-goods industries in America were brought back into production that a noticeable decrease in unemployment occurred.

The excuse or argument made by the AFL-CIO leadership is that corporation profits are high. One look, however, at the fourth-quarter reports for 1957 will convince any fair-minded person that American business has gone into a tailspin. Insistence by union leadership at a time like this on moving costs upward can only mean forcing many smaller businesses to the wall.

As for the automobile industry, which has raised its prices recently due to high wage costs, there are already signs of buyers' resistance. Hence, if the auto workers' union insists on pushing the wage scales higher, the result can only be widespread unemployment among workers in automobile manufacturing plants and in the factories that produce parts and accessories.

If the increases in wages were accompanied by a corresponding increase in productivity, the story would be different. That has not happened in recent years and has been the chief cause of inflation and high prices.

The theory is persistently advanced by American labor leaders today that more pay is due the workers irrespective of the amount of work done.

IF THE WAGES of the workers could be really related to profits at all times — and not just when profits are high — then logically wages should go down when profits decline. But that almost never happens. Wage rates move upward always. Even if fixed at a certain level for a while, they never go down until an economic depression of serious proportions prevails throughout the country.

What the AFL-CIO leaders told the nation after their convention last week is the most discouraging piece of business news since the 1930's. It means that the labor chiefs are ready to force the present recession into a deep depression regardless of consequences.

It might be thought that employers do not have to grant the wage increases demanded. This presupposes that there is such a thing as "collective bargaining" in America. Today "collective bludgeoning" would be a more realistic term. For no big industry can stand a costly strike. The employers are licked the day the big labor unions issue their demands. And the federal government stands by and lets this organized economic monopoly fix prices.

The present administration, like its predecessors, woos the labor vote by promising that it will not favor amendment of the antitrust laws to prevent price-fixing by labor unions through industry-wide "bargaining" contracts.

That's why so many conservative Republicans have lost faith in the administration.

The attempt, moreover, to win the labor vote isn't doing the Eisenhower administration any good.

THE CONVENTION at Atlantic City, after listening to a soft-soap speech by Secretary of Labor Mitchell — who expressed opposition to the enactment of any federal "right to work" laws — turned thumbs down on his mild proposals for reform in the domain of racketeering and voting rights inside unions and for laws to insure honest handling of labor-union funds.

The AFL-CIO claims it is against racketeering but it is getting ready to block anti-racketeering legislation on the specious plea that "union busting" is involved.

AFL-CIO insists usually that it is interested in the welfare of all the workmen but today it is getting ready to abandon at least five million workers to unemployment and suffering.

It is demanding uneconomic increases in wages and unjustified reductions in the hours worked.

Nobody in government today wants to interfere with the legitimate functions of labor unions but the country is becoming alarmed over the abuse of power by labor leaders.

Dickens's Failure

By EVAN CHARLES

Whatever titles may be listed on the official list of best-sellers, America's favorite book between now and Christmas will be a work that flopped pretty miserably when first printed — "A Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens.

During the weeks to come, magazines, radio and television will tell again the now famous story of Scrooge, Marley and Tiny Tim. For the book is beloved wherever people observe Christmas.

And yet, "A Christmas Carol" was an "intolerable disappointment" and a financial failure when it first appeared during the Christmas season of 1843.

According to Dr. Ada Nisbet, professor of English at the University of California at Los Angeles, Dickens had expected the book to earn him about $5,000. But in the first 12 months after publication, fewer than 15,000 copies were bought.

Dickens suffered "great anxiety," according to Dr. Nisbet, for some of his other works had sold as many as 70,000 copies in the first month after they were issued.

CERTAINLY, DICKENS was no literary grenhorn when his famous Christmas story was printed. He was only 31, but already he had authored such successes as "The Pickwick Papers," and "Oliver Twist."

Of course Dickens wasn't the only later-to-be-successful author whose early works often brought disappointment. First books, especially, are notorious stinkers!

James M. Barrie, destined to write that masterpiece of whimsy, "Peter Pan," first authored a volume called "Better Dead."

In later years, Barrie said the name was a perfect fit!

Thomas Wolfe's literary genius, which flowered "Of Time and the River" and "The Web and the Rock," could not have been foreseen from his first work. The book, "The Crisis in Industry," was a complete dud!

Almost as bad was "Hike and the Aeroplane" by "Tom Graham." In that book one detects none of the social insight or professional skill displayed by "Tom Graham" in his later works — "Dodsworth" or "Elmer Gantry." "Tom Graham" of course, was the early pen-name of Sinclair Lewis.

Some writers' first books eventually rose from obscurity to great renewal — such as Edward Fitzgerald's.

WHILE STUDYING the Persian language, the British writer discovered poems written by a little-known 11th-century Persian named Ghalibuddin Abulasth Omar Bin Ibrahim Al-Khayyami. Fitzgerald gathered together as many of these poems as he could find — 1,000 in all — and submitted his translations for publication. But they offended the taste of Victorian publishers and were repeatedly turned down.

Fitzgerald finally published the poems anonymously and at his own expense. He offered the book at five shillings. Not one sold. At four shillings, they still hardly moved off dealers' shelves. And the price eventually went down to a penny per copy.

Years later the poet, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, "discovered" the little volume and urged friends to search for additional copies. The verses suddenly became popular and, before he died, Fitzgerald admitted that he was responsible for the anonymously published "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam."

Not so long ago, one of Fitzgerald's first books — which he could hardly get a penny for when they were originally published — brought $8,000 at a New York auction!

Traffic Vs. Schools

The proposal to establish a truck route to traverse S. Ellsworth Ave. and Mill and Prospect Streets, as set forth in the Comprehensive Plan, warrants close scrutiny by city officials.

Although the route is doubtlessly feasible from the standpoints of concentrating truck traffic on one path and affording convenient ingress to and egress from the industrial area, its course past Prospect Street School seems to lack merit from a safety angle.

The Michael Baker Jr. Engineers, who drafted the plan, took the safety facet into consideration, proposing the establishment of "adequate safeguards and restrictions on Prospect St. to insure child safety" similar to the program near McKinley School.

But such safeguards are not foolproof, and channeling more traffic onto Prospect Street, which already is extensively used by factory workers, conceivably could be an act in the nature of securing traffic improvement at a price too high to pay. Possibly some other route should be explored.

Russia has opted Siberia to tourist travel. This offers a great chance to see peace-loving blizzards, the people's ice and Soviet 10-year snow.

Through the mountain valleys you can hear the "nyets" echoing and re-echoing; pause beside a rushing river and you will catch the frosty epithets, leaping in the spray.

We look for a travel folder from the Kremlin: "Russia welcomes you to Siberia! People who want to get away from it all cheerfully accommodated. Tired of short vacations and brief stays in one place? Siberia solves your problem! You can remain there forever. (In fact it could be easy. See the wonderfully exotic salt mines. Note the vegetation which includes the Lenin Tomato, grown especially for hurling at critics! Behold the amazing animal life, featuring the bear that walks like TWO men! Get a load of the veto bird, which lays hardboiled eggs!

"VISIT THE BEAUTIFUL cities of Omsk and Minsk for that tired feeling. Relax in Novosibirsk! Fulfill that desire for change by a trip to Irkutsk! Enjoy magic hours in colorful Krasnoyarsk! Feel the spell of Ust Vilyuisk! Get back your pep in the steppes! Go camping in the Urals for that certain something. Time is never wastin' in the Kuznetsk Basin. There's fun-ra in the Tundra. Siberia is calling you!" (If it's Khrushchev's voice hang up!)

SONG OF THE SUBWAY RIDER

The subway I have oft condemned;

Loud gripes at it I swing,

Anyway, It's News

When a magazine that has been accused by postal witnesses of not paying its way comes back with the rebuttal that it has been subsidizing the Post Office, that is news.

Time Inc. has made the countercharge that its widely-circulated publication, Life, has been paying eight-tenths of a cent per copy over the actual cost of distributing it through the mail. This has come about, according to a four-year study by independent accountants and business management consultants because the Post Office Department is using unrealistic cost-accounting practices.

These practices have concealed from postal authorities the otherwise obvious fact that handling costs per unit of mail, not the weight of the mail and certainly not average weights, are the source of the postal deficit. The same practices have caused postal authorities to believe the way to reduce the deficit is to soak users who may already be paying what amounts to a subsidy to other users, thanks to the unrealistic reliance on average weight to reveal handling costs.

By H. I. Phillips

But after it's been stopped awhile
It seems a precious thing.
It batters and it bruises me—
The ordeals are complete—
But, losing it, I wail and cry,
"Come back to me, my sweet!"

ACTION OF A HACKENSACK, N. J. judge in limiting overdoses of Yuletide music as a sales pitch is being followed in numerous communities, and with merchants agreeing that the tie-in of Christmas songs with the yen for business records can go too far.

This is a sentimental season when generosity and good will respond willingly to seasonal music within reason.

Nobody is offended by the great heart-liftin' melodies of Christmas offered with proper respect and dignity, even in shopping centers. But it is something else when electronics and loudspeakers go all out to make "production numbers" of the holiest songs.

The spirit of gift giving can't be plugged like a commercial for a liver pill. Reindeer skimming over rooftops can't easily be tied into cashiers skimming over the books for higher sales totals. The Star of Bethlehem is dimmed by a raucous "I'm Drimmin' Uvva Wide Grismuz" and "Rew-dee Thread-noze Rindeer."

WHEN BUSINESS sections blare sacred songs, and other tender melodies of the season, in the tones of the Kickapoo Indian Sagwa medicine man and the tobacco auctioneer, it can be tough for both business and for customer.

Woman Slain In Apartment

Cleveland Police
Plan Hunt For Clues

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Hannah Quilty, an 86-year-old retired governess who was careful about the people she let into her apartment, was found brutally slain in the locked East Side apartment.

Suffocated and beaten, she had been dead about 10 days, the coroner's office said Monday night. Her hands were bound with gauze behind her back, and a pillowcase covered her face.

Police planned to return to the apartment today to search for possible clues. They found no murder weapon Monday night.

Apartment manager Harry Bolton said the woman had lived there about 14 years and customarily kept her door locked and bolted from the inside. No one was admitted without first identifying himself, said Bolton. The body was found after someone complained to Bolton about an odor coming from the second-story apartment.

Windows and doors of the three-room suite were found locked. Detectives said Miss Quilty had not been known to keep large amounts of money in the apartment.

The case bore some similarity to the mysterious slaying of Harold S. Rausch, an eccentric retired lawyer whose body was found Nov. 2 in the basement of

30-Day Weather Outlook Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said Monday this is the outlook for the 30-day period from mid-December to mid-January:

Temperatures to average above seasonal normals over most of the nation east of the continental divide except for near normal over the northern tier of states and in the extreme Southeast.

Below normal temperatures are expected over central and northern areas west of the divide with near to above normal in southern portions.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal west of the continental divide and also over the northern third of the country. Subnormal amounts are indicated over the southern third of the nation east of the divide. In remaining areas near normal amounts are in prospect.

N.Y.C. Wants to Discontinue Ohio Passenger Train Route

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The New York Central Railroad wants to discontinue passenger service between Indianapolis and St. Louis and between Cincinnati and Toledo.

The railroad Monday filed petitions with public utility commissions in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, asking that it be allowed to drop the runs. The Ohio commission expects to hear the request within a month or so.

Ernest W. Nickerson, vice president of the railroad, said in New York the road will have sustained a loss of approximately $1,289,798 in 1957 on the passenger service between the cities. He said the loss in 1956 was $402,975.

New York Central operates four trains daily in each direction between Indianapolis and St. Louis and one train a day in each direction between Cincinnati and Toledo.

The Cincinnati-Toledo route is 213 miles long and serves Middletown, Miamisburg, Dayton, Springfield, Urbana, Fostoria, Rurabana, Bellefontaine Kenton and Carey.

The move would end passenger mail and express service in St. Louis as far as the railroad is concerned.

It is not necessary for the railroad to file a discontinuance of service request in Missouri because New York Central has no intrastate business in that state, a railroad official said.

Trains which would be discontinued between St. Louis and Indianapolis on the eastbound run are the Southwestern, Knickerbocker, Missourian and Cleveland Special. On the westbound run the trains are the Southwestern, Knickerbocker, Missourian and Gateway.

Between Cincinnati and Toledo the northbound train which would be discontinued is the Michigan Special and on the southbound run, the Ohio Special. The Michigan Special leaves Cincinnati at 11:30 p.m. and arrives at Toledo at 5:23 a.m., and the Ohio Special leaves Toledo at 1:35 a.m. and arrives in Cincinnati at 7:30 a.m.

Nickerson said patronage on both lines has been declining steadily for the past decade.

New York Central discontinued its two-day trains between Toledo and Cincinnati Oct. 27, as well as seven other trains in Ohio. Complaints are to be heard by the Utilities Commission, probably next month.

Last of Escaped Mental Patients Captured

CLEVELAND (AP)—The last three of 10 mental patients who ran away from Apple Creek State Hospital near Wooster were captured on the West Side early today.

All were at the home of Samuel Triplett, 17. The others were Ernest Nazza, 18, also of Cleveland and Dennis Gossett, 21, of Hudson.

Although two of them had guns, they offered no resistance when detectives picked them up, following a telephone tip.

The 10 patients fled into a woods Sunday evening as they were being marched back to their quarters after a Christmas show. Seven were captured before they had gone very far.

Thieves Steal $2,000 From Cleveland Home

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Amelia Hayes, 68, told police she was sitting in the kitchen of her home sipping coffee with a rent collector when two masked men burst in. "Where's the money?" shouted one of the men, who were armed.

Mrs. Hayes knew of no money hidden in the house.

After a search, the men found a blue cloth bag tied to a water heater pipe. They fled with it, police reported.

When James Hayes returned from work he informed his wife there was $2,000 in the bag.

He said that Dulles had informed him that the NATO nation foreign ministers, who met during the morning, were planning to continue their work into the afternoon.

For that reason, Hagerty said, Eisenhower decided to remain at the embassy until notified whether his presence was required.

Asked whether Eisenhower's health was involved in any way Hagerty replied: "Not at all. He is still feeling fine."

Hagerty said Eisenhower still was planning to attend a dinner being given tonight by President Rene Coty of France.

Dulles told newsmen: "If any question of substance comes up, the President probably will join the meeting later. It is my understanding that some of the other heads of government are following the same procedure including Mr. Macmillan."

United Booster Club

County Health Board Names Sanitarian

LISBON — Thomas A. Boyce, 35, of Massillon was hired as sanitarian last evening by Columbiana County Board of Health. He will begin his new duties Jan. 1.

Mr. Boyce, certified by the Ohio Association of Public Health Sanitarians, is working with the Massillon health department at the present time. He attended Mt. Union College for two years before going to Ohio State University where he graduated with a degree of bachelor of science in agriculture.

He worked for the Alliance City health department for one year, was laboratory technician for an Alliance dairy for 5 years and has been with Massillon health department since January, 1956. His salary was set at $7,000 a year.

Mr. Boyce, a World War II veteran, is the father of one son.

The county board last night raised the salaries of two health nurses, one clerk and one statistician. The nurses salaries were raised to $3,300, secretary $3,300 and the registrar of vital statistics $2,700. All were given a $25 per month raise.

The board did not appoint a new member to take the place of Stewart Curtis, who died. The vacancy will be filled at the annual meeting in March.

Legionnaires, Firemen To Man 'Army' Kettles

Manning the Salvation Army Christmas kettles this week will be members of the American Legion and the Salem Fire Department.

The legionnaires will be on duty in downtown streets Saturday from 3 to 9 p.m. and the firemen will work Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m.

Youths To Get Hearing On Theft Charges

Eight Salem youths aged 16 and 17, who were arrested on charges of stealing some $400 worth of articles from downtown stores, will have a hearing before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin in Lisbon tomorrow.

A large portion of the stolen goods was recovered at the boys' homes. However, some of the stolen items have been sold and the rest has not been returned, police said.

A "tip" from an unidentified person led to the arrest of the boys who were released in the custody of their parents pending a hearing before Judge Tobin.

MOTORIST FINED $10

LISBON — Norma J. Murray, 18, of East Liverpool was fined $10 and costs at a hearing Monday before Mayor Wilbur Warren on a charge of unsafe operation. She was cited by the State Patrol following an accident.

Veterans Guide

(By Veterans Administration)

Q — My uncle a totally disabled World War I veteran is in a rest home. I am taking care of all his expenses. He is getting a VA pension, since his disability is not service-connected. In computing his annual income, must he include the money I pay to the home for his upkeep?

A — No. Money which you pay to the home to cover his maintenance is not to be considered as income, for VA pension purposes.

Q — I want to go to college under the Korean GI Bill, but not to get a degree. On my application form, what should I put down as my course of study?

A — You must list all the subjects you plan to take, which make up your program of education.

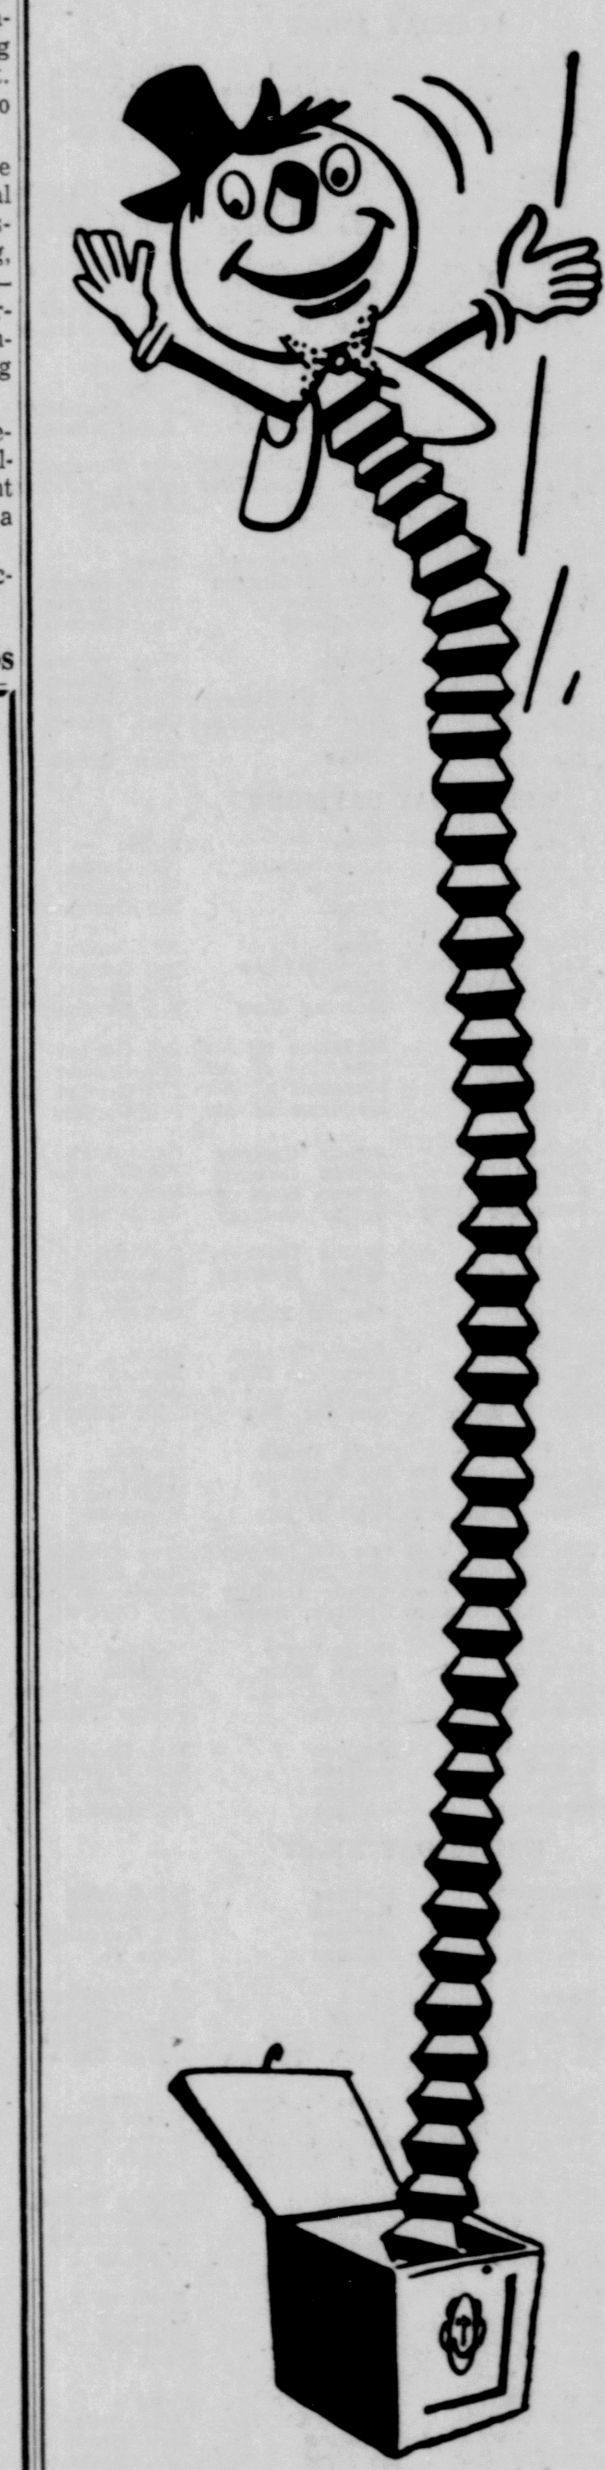

Q — I understand that special restorative training is available under the War Orphans Education program to handicapped young men and women in need of it. Does this restorative training also include medical care?

A — No. Special restorative training does not include medical care. It does include special courses — such as braille reading, language retraining and the like — designed to help a person overcome his handicap so that eventually he can take regular training at school.

Q — I want to change the beneficiaries of my GI insurance policy. Must I notify my present beneficiaries that I am making a change?

A — No. Your present beneficiaries need not be notified.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

It is only fair to report that the nation's labor leaders, who crowded the platform at their convention in Atlantic City, sympathized with the anger of the millions who crowded the platforms of the snarled New York subway system. Two of the convention's influential leaders were rushed to New York to get before TV cameras and urge the end of the 50 million dollar strike which bottled up the world's longest underground railroad which carries five million passengers a day.

The hurried departure of these men from the critical AFL-CIO convention was the tipoff to a startling development inside labor—the quiet decision in many union circles that there are areas which must never be struck despite what they consider labor's inherent right to strike.

AFTER POLLING many of the country's powerful union chiefs, for example, I learned that we might never have had a smoothly functioning missile testing base if one union, feuding with Mike Quill's Transport Workers Union, had acted as rashly as the little unions which now are bucking Quill on New York's subway lines.

The feud I refer to swirled about the Pan-American World Airway, Inc., Guided Missiles Range Division at Cocoa Beach, Fla. This is the spot all the world watches today. When the equipment was being set up, Mike Quill's Transport Workers Union supplied the workers. The TWU moved in, because Quill, for years, has had a contract with Pan-American. When the big International Assn. of Machinists realized that Pan-Am's government contract force in Quill's union, they protested.

They said in effect, that this involved work quite different from maintaining and servicing airplanes. Machinists were needed. This was their jurisdiction, not Mike's, they insisted.

The Machinists could have—but they didn't. The dispute was arbitrated by several boards.

Finally it was handed over to the AFL-CIO's impartial umpire. He is Dave Cole—the same respected "judge" who chaired the three-man facts finding committee which originally handled the New York subway feud.

DAVE COLE ruled in behalf of the Transport Workers at Cocoa Beach. The Machinists did NOT disrupt missile range work. They simply walked away, albeit unhappy.

They respected the nation's needs. The New York subway strikers, however, in a somewhat similar case, slashed the transport system of the free world's most intricate financial and administrative center, thereby setting a precedent which could endanger the health and peace of a thousand other cities. Here's why:

Behind the scenes in Atlantic City, there was a hassle between the Fire Fighters Union and the Operating Engineers and Teamsters. Why? Because in some cities fire engine drivers are Teamsters Union members. In other cities, the men who handle the big pumps and considerable modern fire fighting equipment pay dues to the Operating Engineers.

Last week the International Assn. of Fire Fighters asked the AFL-CIO high command to give it full jurisdiction over all firemen. The New York City subway strike strengthened their case.

The men in blue are willing to fight for their rights and higher wages as hard as they fight fires. But like unionized prison guards, police and such unionized government offices as the FBI, they have voluntarily surrendered their right to strike.

WHAT CONCERNED the nation's labor leaders was that all this sense of responsibility will be overlooked by the public because of the dramatic impact of the underground chaos in New York. Labor wants no more headaches. Already there are tough laws against public utility strikes in 11 states. The toughest of these is in Virginia.

There the law permits the governor to seize struck facilities vital to the public. Immediately the strikers become public employees. If they persist in striking, they can be heavily fined—and jailed, too.

The state also sets the profit rate, in effect, for the struck company for the duration of the seizure. Whatever the company makes is velvet, for it would earn little if it were completely shut down.

In the current atmosphere, with labor's public relations badly hit by exposures and explosions, the nation's union chiefs fear that any rough incident might unleash a vigorous drive for the spread of harsh anti-strike laws.

The New York subway strike could well be that incident although the striking unions are not affiliated with the AFL-CIO. The Hall Syndicate

They respected the nation's needs. The New York subway strikers, however, in a somewhat similar case, slashed the transport system of the free world's most intricate financial and administrative center, thereby setting a precedent which could endanger the health and peace of a thousand other cities. Here's why:

Behind the scenes in Atlantic City, there was a hassle between the Fire Fighters Union and the Operating Engineers and Teamsters. Why? Because in some cities fire engine drivers are Teamsters Union members. In other cities, the men who handle the big pumps and considerable modern fire fighting equipment pay dues to the Operating Engineers.

Last week the International Assn. of Fire Fighters asked the AFL-CIO high command to give it full jurisdiction over all firemen. The New York City subway strike strengthened their case.

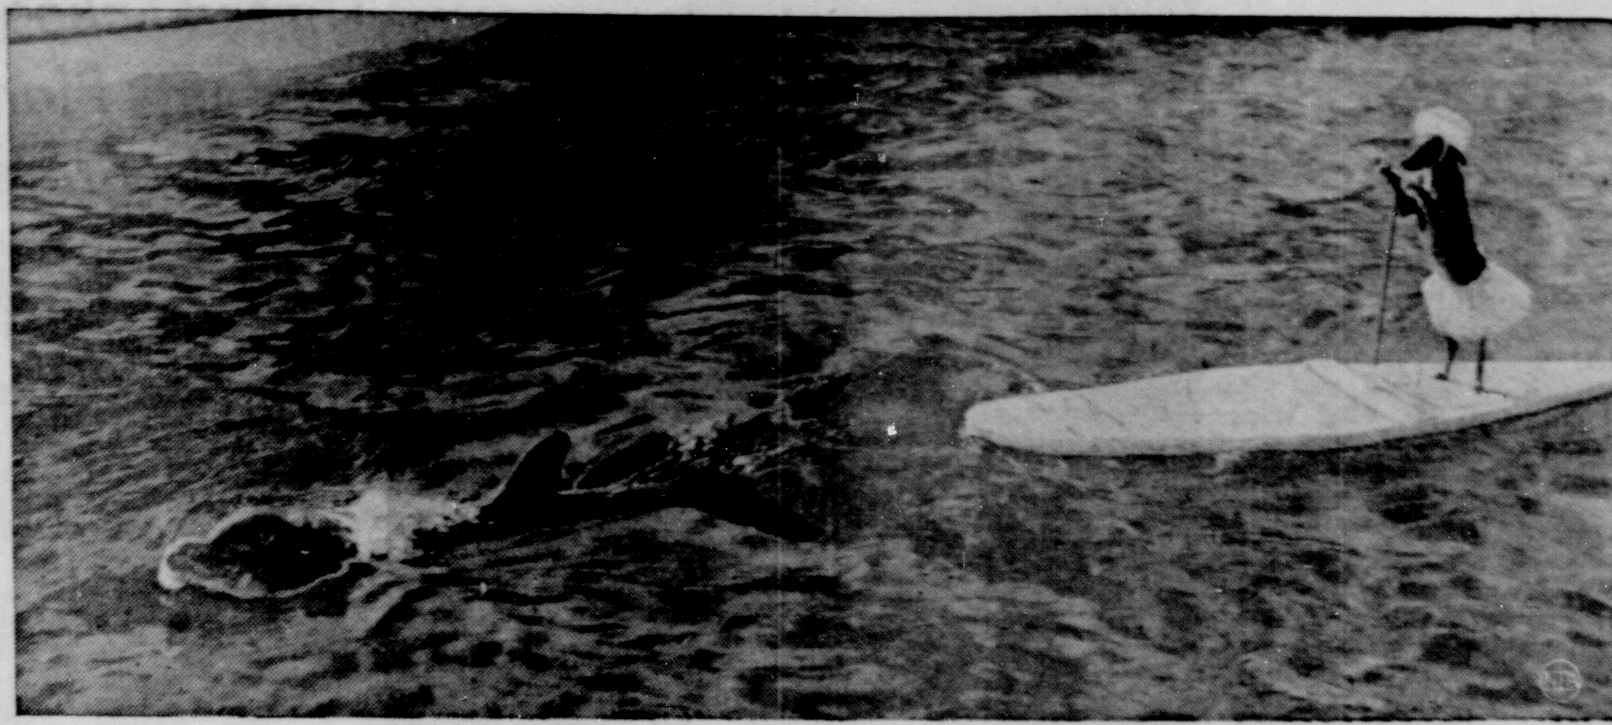

The men in blue are willing to fight for their rights and higher wages as hard as they fight fires. But like unionized prison guards, police and such unionized government offices as the FBI, they have voluntarily surrendered their right to strike.

WHAT CONCERNED the nation's labor leaders was that all this sense of responsibility will be overlooked by the public because of the dramatic impact of the underground chaos in New York. Labor wants no more headaches. Already there are tough laws against public utility strikes in 11 states. The toughest of these is in Virginia.

There the law permits the governor to seize struck facilities vital to the public. Immediately the strikers become public employees. If they persist in striking, they can be heavily fined—and jailed, too.

Cincinnati Voted Into Fourth Place In 2nd AP Poll

North Carolina Remains On Top

Tar Heels Run Win String to 36 Games

By The Associated Press
A couple of last week's basketball tournament winners registered big gains in the national college rankings as the big boys turned towards other tournaments during the coming week.

The Cincinnati Bearcats, who whipped Temple and also won their own invitational tournament, were voted into fourth place in the second weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters. They barely made the top 20 a week ago.

Mississippi State, which knocked off Memphis State and then won the Birmingham Classic Tournament, placed 13th although it hadn't been mentioned before as a ranking team.

Conversely, some of last week's losers, notably Bradley, St. Louis and Temple, slipped in the ratings after losing their first games.

Balloting is based on results through last Saturday and points are awarded on the basis of 10 for each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

North Carolina's Tar Heels, 1956-1957 national collegiate champions, remained on top. They ran their victory string to 36 by winning three games last week. They run into stronger competition in the University of Kentucky Invitational Tournament this weekend.

Behind North Carolina come Kansas State and Cincinnati, with Kentucky, upset by Maryland last Tuesday, dropping to fifth place. Maryland, San Francisco, West Virginia, Michigan State and Minnesota complete the top 10. Missing from last week's list are Bradley, which dropped to 11th place after losing to Seattle, and St. Louis and Temple, which dropped clear out of sight from ninth and 10th places.

North Carolina was an overwhelming choice for the first place drawing 63 of 116 votes for the top spot.

First-place votes in parentheses:

1. North Carolina (3)1,081
2. Kansas (21) 939
3. Kansas State (6) 642
4. Cincinnati (12) 489
5. Kentucky (3) 7
6. Maryland (1) 383
7. San Francisco (4) 372
8. West Virginia (2) 340
9. Michigan State (2) 322
10. Minnesota 197

The Second 10:

11. Bradley 178
12. Seattle 169
13. UCLA 117
14. Rice 85
15. Utah 80
16. Oklahoma State 73
17. Oregon State 71
18. Mississippi State 61
19. Richmond 40
20. N.C. State 37

Southern Methodist Scores 65-64 Upset Over Kentucky

The Associated Press
It's getting so North Carolina can knock off challengers even when the Tar Heels, top-ranked again in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll, aren't playing.

That's as good an explanation as any for Kentucky's 65-24 upset by Southern Methodist Monday night. Chances are the Wildcats, rated No. 5 were looking ahead to their weekend tournament and a chance for a crack at North Carolina's 36 game winning string.

It was the second defeat in six starts for the Wildcats, who are paired against West Virginia, while North Carolina plays Minnesota, in Friday's first round of the Kentucky Invitational.

This was the second straight for the Mustangs at home and they now are 3-3, with all the defeats on the road.

Rice, picked as a likely successor to SMU as the Southwest Conference champ, played its first game away from home Monday night and took its first defeat, 67-62 at Wisconsin.

About the only other surprise was Wichita's 81-73 decision over Iowa.

Kansas State, ranked No. 3, whipped Arkansas 63-48, San Francisco defeated Southern California 70-56, and Illinois smacked Colorado 64-46.

Unbeaten Kansas State made it five straight, while unranked Illinois (4-0) hitting only 25 percent of its first half shots, rallied for a 27-23 lead at the intermission and then took off.

San Francisco (4-0), rated No. 7, led by only three at the half, then whipped past Southern Cal with a 19-5 tear in the first 8 minutes of the second half.

Georgia Tech won a 62-59 victory over Baylor. Vanderbilt built the widest winning margin in its history for a 98-48 breeze against Southwestern of Memphis. And unbeaten Texas Tech won its fifth with a 79-72 decision over Louisiana State.

Nebraska defeated Denver 68-63. Western Kentucky clapped up Hardin-Simmons' zone defense and took an easy 92-60 decision. Memphis State controlled the boards and beat The Citadel 70-3. Unbeaten Dartmouth won its sixth, 81-54 over Colby. St. Mary's of California, after losing five in a row, knocked off previously unbeaten Evansville (Ind.), three times coming from 10 points back to win 70-68 in an overtime.

Bunko Holt funneled in 23 points for Wisconsin's Badgers, who took an 18-17 lead midway in the first half and were on top to stay in registering a 3-1 record. Rice trailed as much as 42-29 but pulled up 63-60 with 1:24 left. But the Badgers pulled ahead and wound up with a 50 per cent shooting average from the floor.

Roger Taylor's 17 points topped a balanced scoring effort at Illinois. The Illinois sophomore star, Mennie Jackson, went out in the first half with an ankle injury but returned at the start of the final and teamed with Taylor to shoot Illinois ahead 54-39.

At Wichita, Iowa was caught in a full-court defensive spread and a fiery Wichita offense topped by Don Woodworth's 27 points. A Hawkeye reserve, Clarence Wordlaw, scored Iowa's last eight points to cut Wichita's edge to 79-78 in the last 34 seconds. Joe Stevens' two free throws put Wichita out of danger.

Iowa hit 29 of 54 field shots for 53.7 percent and Dave Swift making 19 points and Dave Gunther 18 to lead the scoring. But the Hawkeyes made only 20 of 32 free tosses while Wichita popped in 25 out of 37.

The only Big Ten team in action tonight is Purdue with a game at DePaul.

CARDS NEW BONUS BABY. — Jimmy Beauchamp, 18-year-old freshman at Oklahoma State University from Grove, Okla., smiles at Stillwater, Okla., at prospects of becoming a member of the St. Louis Cardinals organization. Browns Land Seven Players On Eastern All-Star Squad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The eastern squad for the All-Star pro bowl football game in Los Angeles Sunday Jan. 12, was announced today by Paul Schissler, general manager of the contest.

Personnel were selected after a vote of the coaches of the National Football League.

Led by all-league fullback Jim Brown, the Cleveland Browns, champions of the Eastern Division, landed seven players, to be by the Washington Redskins and the runner-up New York Giants.

Paul Brown Undecided On QB Starter

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns is in the enviable position of possessing two of the best quarterbacks in the National Football League.

But he has a problem. Which of the two, Tommy O'Connell or Milt Plum, should he start in the championship game Dec. 29? O'Connell has been given a major share of the credit for guiding the Browns to their 11th Eastern Division title in 12 seasons. He led the league in passing.

Plum, who took over when O'Connell was injured, demonstrated in games against the Detroit Lions and the NFL's defending champion New York Giants, that he can do the job as well as O'Connell.

Coach Brown said he would "wait and see" which one would start in the big game.

"I haven't made any decision. Either one can do a job for us."

With three quarterbacks already on the roster—John Bortone is the third—the Browns announced today the signing of Jim Ninowski of Michigan State. The 22-year-old passer, who like Plum can run the ball well, was a fourth-round choice at the recent NFL player draft in Philadelphia.

Mt. Union Loses 73-66; Two Salem Students Score

Harry Baird scored 14 points and Jack Gottschling chipped in with three Monday night for Mt. Union, but the Raiders went down to a 73-66 defeat at the hands of American University from Washington, D.C. The two players are from Salem.

The visitors, who recently carried Navy into a triple overtime before going down to defeat were paced by the play making and scoring of Willie Jones who pocketed 22 points. Frank Weiss was high man however for the victors with 26 counters.

Charlie Kemp with 17 points paced the Raiders while Bill Roof of Poland had 11 and Dan Richards of Canfield 10. Roof fouled out with a little over ten minutes left in the game.

The Raiders fell behind 9-0 and couldn't overtake the lead. They came close at 56-50 late in the game, but buckets by Jones and Weiss hiked the Eagles' lead again to 10 points.

Mount's next home game is Thursday night against Case.

FACES COURT MARTIAL

KUSAN AIR BASE, Korea (AP)—Airman Basic Edward L. Young of Philo, Ohio, will face a general court martial Dec. 20 on charges of involuntary manslaughter. He is said to have fired shots that killed one of two Korean girls shot Sept. 15 while he was a guard here.

Yardley Still Leads n NBA Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Pettit gained points but lost ground to George Yardley in the National Basketball Assn. individual scoring race last week.

Pettit scored 137 points in five games for the St. Louis Hawks for a 26-game total of 679 enough to trail Yardley by only seven after lagging by 59 a week ago. Trouble (for Pettit) is Yardley's 586 total has been bagged in only 24 games with the Detroit Pistons, including an 85-point showing in a pair last week.

With his top-rated game average of 186 points, Yardley would be some 64 points ahead.

The big jump in the scoring race was made by Cliff Hagan of the Hawks. After standing 15th a couple of weeks ago and 13th last week, Hagan climbed to sixth with 126 points in St. Louis' five games.

Big Bill Russell of Boston, with a 170 bulge over Pettit in rebounds on a 25.2 average, is just below Philadelphia's Neil Johnston in field goal accuracy. Johnston has a 457 mark, Russell 454.

Boston's Bill Sharman regained the lead in free throw excellence, hitting 19 of 20 last week for a season percentage of .891. Ron Sobie of New York, missing six of 20, fell from first to fourth.

Duke Snider to Have Bad Knee Operated On

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Duke Snider is going to have the knee that bothered him so much last season operated on this week.

The Los Angeles Dodgers' center fielder will enter St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica on Thursday and have some cartilage removed from his left knee.

Snider had trouble with the knee during most of the 1957 season, which was the first in five years in which he failed to drive in 100 runs or more. He got 92.

Today the East and the West players visit the Shrine Hospital for crippled children here, the recipient of the proceeds from this charity game which this year stages its 33rd renewal.

Then they open two-day practice with the West at Stanford and the East at Santa Clara. Both Engle and the West's head coach, Jack Curtice, have declared the practice sessions open to the public.

Engle, from Penn State, and Curtice, of Utah, both plan to use T formation with variations. Engle favors the wing T.

Four All-America performers are included on the East squad—end Jim Phillips of Auburn, tackle Alex Karras of Iowa and Lou Michaels of Kentucky and halfback Jim Pace of Michigan.

So in the matter of name players, the edge goes to the East, and Curtice quipped, "I'm glad they announced that East squad after they did ours. Some of our fellows might have gone elsewhere if they hadn't."

Then seriously he declared, "I don't think you have to worry about a bad East-West football game. You can't beat that thing they call spirit."

Marv Matuszak Is Big Reason For 49ers' Successful Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 58-27 shellacking during preseason games aided in putting the San Francisco 49ers into Sunday's playoff with the Detroit Lions.

That fearful whipping by the Los Angeles Rams caused the 49ers to make the trade that brought Marv Matuszak, a formidable 235-pound linebacker.

To get him, the 49ers dealt off quarterback Earl Morrall, an All-America at Michigan State and the understudy to Y. A. Tittle with San Francisco. Going to the Steelers with him was guard Mike Sandusky. The 49ers also received Pittsburgh's No. 1 draft choice this year and next.

"I never realized one guy could make such a difference in a defense," said Coach Frankie Albert. "Steelers Coach Buddy Parker said we were getting the heart of the Pittsburgh defense and I know now what he meant."

The trade helped the Steelers also. Morrall became the regular quarterback and Sandusky plays regularly.

Matuszak, a quiet fellow off the field, took charge so quickly on defense it surprised the 49er coaches.

Assistant coach Phil Bengston had been calling defensive signals from the bench for the early preseason games. Matuszak, who played collegiate ball at Tulsa, reported just before the 49ers played the Philadelphia Eagles.

Big Marv started and at the end of the first quarter called over to a surprised Bengston some thing on the order of, "Okay, coach. I think I've got the pitch on this and I'll take over."

He's been calling defensive signals since then.

The 49ers lost to the Rams Sept. 13, traded for Matuszak Sept. 15, and then started him against the Eagles Sept. 22.

The 49ers have won their last three to finish the regular season with an 8-4 record and the tie with Detroit that brings this week's playoff.

Buckeyes to Return To Practice Field

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's football team returns to the practice field Wednesday after several days of studying for examinations. The team will leave later this week for the West Coast.

Ohio State meets Oregon in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Hunter Paces Reserve To Victory Over Fenn

Rich Hunter of Salem scored 14 points last night to pace the Western Reserve Redcats to a 56-55 win over Fenn College of Cleveland in a game played on the Cathedral Latin High School floor.

Another sophomore, Jerry Miller, scored the winning field goal for Reserve in the last 13 seconds, but it was on Hunter's scoring that the Redcats stayed in the game.

Last Friday night Hunter sank a field goal in the last six seconds of an overtime to give Western Reserve a 51-50 win over Wayne State of Detroit.

Hunter presently tops all Reserve scorers for the season with 72 points in four games or an 18-0 average.

He is a 5-10 sophomore.

It hog-dressed an even 200 pounds, and I saw it weighed on a beam scale. According to state standards this means the deer would have weighed between 255 and 260 pounds on the hoof.

Paul, who has been studying taxidermy, will attempt to mount the 9-point head. Paul's son Tommy, bagged a one-eyed button buck also in the same vicinity and got lots of "kidding" about it.

To top it off he fastened a large pair of elk antlers on this little buck and hunt it in a tree in the front yard. With both deer hung up in the front yard, naturally, any motorist passing by applied

Sportsmen, Lincoln Way Win

Youngstown Kitchens Comes From Behind to Trip Murphy's

A tremendous fourth quarter rally in which it outscored Murphy's Service 21-8 lifted Youngstown Kitchens from a 36-26 deficit to a 47-44 win Monday night in one of three city basketball league games played at the Memorial Building.

The Sportsmen beat McDaniel's 84-77, and Lincoln Way Service topped John's Pennzill 61-46 in two other tilts that also saw the winners come from behind.

The scoring and rebounding of Wayne "Slick" Harris paid off for Kitchens. The 6-3 ace dumped in 11 points to top Kitchens scorers, besides pulling off numerous rebounds. He was backed up by 10 points from Galen Beck and nine from Jerry Lepping.

Ray Sulzer had 12 to pace the losers while Ted Davidson had 9. Kitchens trailed at the half 22-17.

A double-barreled offensive, with Ed Jordan scoring 30 points and John Siskowic 24, carried the Sportsmen over McDaniel's. The victors trailed at the half 39-35, but a prolific third period, in which they outscored their opponent 38-8, carried the Sportsmen to their win.

Bob Payer had 18 for the winners. Bob Knight with 21 and Glenn Manki with 20 topped the losers.

Twenty-three points by Bob Rose and 16 by George Ramsey carried the Lincoln Way five over John's. The victors trailed 27-25, but a third-quarter rally pulled it out for Lincoln Way.

Gene Kitzmiller topped the losers with 19 points.

Howe Serious Threat in NHL Scoring Race

MONTREAL (AP)—Gordie Howe of Detroit, the 195-57 National League scoring champion, amassed seven points in the Red Wings' last three games to become a serious threat today to topple the long-time leader in this season's race.

Howe scored four goals and assisted on three others to advance into a third-place tie at 31 points with Dickie Moore of Montreal who managed only one assist in the Canadiens' last three games.

Weekly NHL statistics released today show Howe with 14 goals and 17 assists and Moore with 13 goals and 18 assists.

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard of the Canadiens is still on top, four points ahead of Howe and Moore. The Pocket Rocket, the top goal-getter, scored his 15th goal and picked up his 20th assist for a 35-point total.

Teammate Jean Beliveau, who missed the Canadiens' last two games because of an injury, holds second spot with 12 goals and 20 assists for 32 points, the same as a week ago. He and the Pocket Rocket are tied for first place in the assists department.

Boston's Bronco Horvath topped to fifth place from fourth as a result of Howe's surge. He got two assists in the last week, his 15th and 16th, to increase his point-total to 28.

Lou Fontinato, New York defenseman, has sat out minutes in the penalty box to lead that department.

Jacques Plante of Montreal has the best average of the goalkeepers, 1.84. In 19 games this season, he has allowed 35 goals and registered four shutouts.

Glenn Hall of Chicago, with a 2.57 average, has the most shutouts—five.

Farmers Bank Paces City Volleyball League

The Farmers Bank moved into first place in the city volleyball league Monday night at the Memorial Building by winning three games from the Buckeye AC.

Youngstown Kitchens dropped from the top slot by losing two of three games to Deming's.

The Post Office beat Electric Furnace 15-7, 10-15, and 15-7 in one other match.

Farmers Bank defeated its foe 15-12, 15-8 and 15-7 while Deming's beat Kitchens 6-14, 7-5 and 11-4.

Farmers Bank now has a 19-5 record while Kitchens is right behind with 18-6.

Driver of Car Dies In Dayton Accident

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A car containing three men and three women went out of control on a right turn early this morning, police said.

The driver, identified as Mrs. Julia Morris, 27, of Dayton, was killed as the car jumped a curb, hit a telephone pole, glanced off a tree and smashed into a house on Dayton's West Side.

The dead woman's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, 26, also of Dayton, was treated and released from St. Elizabeth's Hospital here. No one else, in the house or in the car, was injured, police said.

FBI Agents Arrest Two Jewelry Thieves

CHICAGO (AP)—FBI agents Monday arrested two salesmen, Jules S. Jaffe, 43, and Walter Spritz, 37, both of Chicago. They said the two had in their possession some of the loot taken in a $101,600 jewelry theft at Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 9.

Werner Sonn, 33, of New York City, told police he placed a leather satchel with the jewelry, which included 140 watches, on a luggage rack of an airliner when he left Cleveland for Buffalo a week ago Monday. When he got off, the satchel was gone, he reported.

Agents said Jaffe and Spritz had $13,825 worth of stolen watches in their possession.

STILL IN POOR CONDITION

The condition of Mrs. Melvin Nulf, 35, of East Liverpool, injured in an auto mishap Saturday, remains poor, City Hospital reports.

Mrs. Nulf was hurt when a car driven by her husband, 35, skidded on ice and crashed into a tree on Pancake Hill on Rt. 170.

HURT IN PLANT MISHAP

William Fieldhouse, 50, of 338 W. Pershing St., sustained a crushed third finger of his left hand when it was caught in a crane hook while at work Monday morning at the Youngstown Kitchens Division. He is reported in good condition at City Hospital.

Messiah Will Be Given Sunday At Columbiana Methodist Church

COLUMBIANA — Handel's "Messiah" will be sung in Columbiana Methodist Church at 3 p.m. Sunday by the male chorus of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and the Monday Music Club of Youngstown.

The 60-voice chorus will be under the direction of W. Vernon Hamilton Open to the public, the program will take the place of the usual Christmas vesper service presented by the church choir.

Clipper Aerle, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will give a party for the children in the club rooms at 8 p.m. Saturday. The Eagles have followed their custom of erecting a tree, decorated with colored lights, on the southwest corner of the public square.

Postmaster S. E. Tidd has added ten extra workers to his force to help handle the Christmas mail. Deliveries are being made twice a day, including next Sunday, and the stamp and parcel post windows remain open Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Cub Pack 69, Boy Scouts, sponsored by Columbiana Catholic Women's Guild, will meet at Joshua Dixon School at 7:15 p.m. Thursday instead of 7:30, the usual time. Every cub is to take a 25-cent gift for an exchange. Prospective cubs who have registration forms are requested to turn them in to Cubmaster Eugene Hawkins.

FAIRFIELD RUTAN Club will meet at Heck's at 7 p.m. Thursday, when the Rev. George Falto of the Bible Presbyterian Church at Enon Valley, Pa., will be the speaker. Officers will be installed by Dale Miller of Lisbon, past district governor. The new officers will be: Wayne Rudabaugh of Rogers, president; Manager Charles Harper of Firestone Farms, vice president; Wilbur Webber, RD, Columbiana, secretary; Dale Sitler, RD, Columbiana, treasurer. Columbiana Church of the Nazarene has scheduled a watch night service for 8 p.m. to midnight, Tuesday, Dec. 31, in its new church building on N. Elm St. to usher in the jubilee year of the its golden anniversary.

Organized in 1908 by a merger of several small denominations in the South at Pilot Point, Texas, the denomination has grown from 228 churches and 10,000 members to 4,500 churches and 300,000 members.

In common with other churches of the denomination, the watch night here will mark the beginning of special observances during the year. The Rev. Lonnie Baltz, pastor, will assign parts of the Bible to be read at services by individuals, who will complete the entire book in January. A week of visitation will also be set apart.

OTHER SPECIAL days to be observed will be Easter Sunday, April 6, when the goal of a denominational offering for missions will be $1,000,000; Oct. 12, 50th anniversary Sunday services, and Nov. 23, when the goal of the Thanksgiving offering for missions will be $1,000,000.

The Friendship Class will meet in the social room of the Methodist Church at 7 p.m. Thursday to pack Christmas boxes for shut-ins, members to take cookies, candy and nuts. The committee is Isabel Roller, Janrose Pursiful, Janet Reinher and Irene Blank. Columbiana Class Room Teachers Association will have its Christmas dinner at Johnny Garneau's Smorgasbord on Route 7 at the turnpike interchange at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Huntum Community Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Grace Reach at 1 p.m. Thursday, when a grab bag will be a feature. The Philo Class of the Methodist Church will have its Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Virginia Way, Maple Drive, at 8 p.m. Thursday. There will be a 25-cent gift exchange. The committee is Mary Tingle, Ardis Detwiler, Mildred Mowen and Bertha Shontz.

Christmas offerings at Grace United Church of Christ will again go to the homes at Greenville, Pa., and Fort Wayne, Ind. The Faith, Hope and Charity class will decorate the tree, the Men's Class has prepared the outside display; Mrs. Joseph Keck and members of the youth department have charge of Christmas candy, and Mrs. D. J. Voelm, wife of the pastor, is in charge of the Sunday School program.

THE ENTERPRISE CO. has announced appointment of Alex Shashaty of Youngstown as chief engineer and Charles D. Shickley, RD, North Lima, as assistant chief engineer.

Shashaty has been project engineer with the Lombard Corp. in Youngstown for two years. Previously he was with Wean Engineering Co. in Warren and Inland Steel Corp.

Schickley also has been with Lombard Corp., Morgan Engineering Co. in Alliance and Enterprise.

The Enterprise firm designs and manufactures special machinery and fabrications for the steel and lumber industries. It was established here in 1878. William K. Stamets Jr., formerly chief engineer and sales manager, recently was elected president and general manager.

DAV CHAPTER TO MEET
Members of the Disabled American Veterans are urged to attend a business meeting of the chapter Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall.

CHRISTMAS IN THE AIR: — Merry Christmas is spelled out on the face of the Merchandise Mart, the largest commercial building in the world, as holiday lights were turned on in Chicago. The "Mart," called the biggest showcase in the world with its 93 acres of floor space, fronts the Chicago River. The Wrigley Building lights up the skyline in right background.

State Officials to Discuss Mounting Relief Problems

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard C. Minor, assistant state welfare director, Monday said state welfare officials are planning a meeting with Gov. C. William O'Neill and finance director John Skipton to work out a solution to Ohio's mounting poor relief problems.

He said Mrs. Margaret Ireland, state welfare director, is awaiting written reports from Cuyahoga County officials on their needs. County relief officials conferred with Mrs. Ireland last week in Columbus.

Minor said: "We will have to determine whether conditions are worse than anticipated in one or two counties, but our policy will be for the whole state."

He reported demands for poor relief, aid for disabled persons and aid for dependent children are growing as the money appropriated by the last Legislature for the current two-year period is 1 1/2 million dollars less than the previous biennium.

Minor said the last Legislature set aside 26 million dollars as the state's share of "matching" money for poor relief, compared with 31 million for the preceding two-year period. But he explained the last Legislature for the first time made a separate appropriation of more than 3 1/2 million dollars to aid disabled persons.

Funds for the disabled previously were included in poor relief. Thus, he said, the biennium's total is about 19 1/2 million.

The Legislature also appropriated nearly 7 1/2 million dollars to aid dependent children, the same sum as in the previous biennium, but demands for child care have increased as Ohio's population grows, Minor said.

Minor said the Welfare Department requested 26 million for poor relief, four million for aid to the disabled and 18 million for dependent children. A report from State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy listed receipt of nearly 19 million dollars in excise and poor relief taxes from utility firms operating in Ohio.

Of the 19 million, four million is for the poor relief fund and the balance of the payments will be split between the poor relief fund and the state treasury after amounts are determined next month.

Federal Examiner To Rule on P & G Moves

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Federal Trade Commission examiner has yet to rule on two moves by Procter & Gamble Co. attorneys in an anti-trust suit.

At start of a hearing Monday, P & G moved to throw out the suit for lack of jurisdiction and objected to a subpoena of company records.

The examiner, Kenneth Haycraft, did modify the subpoena so that records prior to 1956 would not be needed. The hearing is on charges that P & G violated anti-monopoly laws when it bought the Clorox Chemical Co., maker of liquid bleach, last August.

'Presents' Turn Up For 'Lonely Widow'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two potential "presents" have turned up for the "lonely widow" who wrote City Hall's Santa Claus last week, asking for a man.

City officials say a man in New Rochelle, N. Y., and another in Springfield, Ohio, have offered themselves as Christmas presents to the widow.

DAIRY MOTION REJECTED

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A motion for withdrawal of an injunction banning unlawful picketing or violence at the McAllister Dairy Farms Inc. plant has been turned down by Common Pleas Judge G. H. Birrell. The motion by the Butchers Union and the Teamsters Union, who have been striking for a month, was dismissed Monday.

Boy Wants Unique Gift For Christmas

BOSTON (AP)—Eight-year-old Richard Cahalane of Belmont is asking for a rather unique Christmas gift this year.

All he wants are 40 pints of blood so he can walk and run like his playmates.

Richard has a deformed foot which requires surgery to correct, but he also is afflicted with hemophilia. He suffers from bleeding, even from the slightest wound.

Richard has been hospitalized at least five times a year and already has had 150 transfusions after minor accidents.

Dr. Thomas Broderick, chief orthopedic surgeon at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, will operate as soon as the blood is available. Thanks to modern medical science, surgery now can be performed on hemophiliacs.

It is estimated that of the 40 pints necessary, 20 of them must be of the fairly rare type O negative. Donors are needed because less than 6 per cent of the population has this type of blood.

Rt. 46 Relocation To Be Bid on by July

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A four-lane relocation of Ohio 46 that will link U.S. 20 and the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway south of Ashtabula will probably be bid on before July, the Ohio Department of Highways announced Monday.

The department already has approved relocation of seven miles of the highway, which will be east of the present Ohio 46. Eventually, the department reported, Ohio 46 will be relocated south of the Ohio River, providing northeastern Ohio with a good north-south highway.

Most of Checks Stolen In Warren Recovered

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Police and sheriff's deputies have recovered most of a group of over $11,000 worth of checks taken from the Warren County Farm Bureau offices by safe burglars.

The burglary was discovered early Monday by Butler County sheriff's deputies who found the safe, broken open, near West Chester. The checks had been strewn around the battered safe.

The burglars had taken $337 in cash from the safe. Bureau officials said the half-ton safe was apparently jugged off between Saturday afternoon and Sunday night.
